Would the farmer's market work on a postcard? Maybe Patrick could tell me what 500 would cost? Or 1000?

I'd do the post cards. We do a lot of them on Melrose. They seem more attractive, easier to pass out, easier to hold on to (everyone always needs a book mark).

What do you think? Heading out for night. Kevin and I are fixing up mikes room, doing his laundry and giving him a grand welcome home for tomorrow night.

Love it. Would you want to print it on card stock (i.e. post card like)? 8 1/2 x 11 is ok too. Just asking?

I want to do a Drollinger outreach for the Sunday Market and I need your help putting it together please. It would be a printable flyer...I will talk to Patrick...maybe we can just buy some good paper and run it off here...or he could run it off for us. It will be for the Sunday market only...aimed at churches, local employees of retailers open on Sunday, the carwash...just downtown stuff. I just wanna keep it a bit on the down-low cause I want a simple flyer...not listing both markets. It should briefly touch on the fact the wed is still going strong, all the pics you took can be used. The historical photo booth seems to be a real hit so maybe a mention of that will bring some folks out.
